

ABSTRACT

Methods

The production of genetically modified animals, in which the genetic modifications are engineered in somatic cells cultured in vitro by gene targeting, is described. Genetically modified cells may then used as nuclear donors to produce, inter alia, live animals. The methods described can also be used to validate loci in animal chromosomes which are suitable sites for transgene addition to cells.

20250220 13:02:50 ET/0800T